NEL operates an in-house daily courier to deliver these samples to the Westbrook Lab that same day.

If you are unable to drop off your samples at these convenient no-charge locations, samples can be mailed from your local Post Office. Please note that the Post Office is no longer offering next day shipping and your sample may arrive at the laboratory out of hold time.

We recommend hand delivering samples if at all possible, to ensure samples arrive within hold time.

Please note: Samples shipped via FedEx or UPS are not guaranteed to be delivered within hold time or within the required temperature. The only way to ensure timely delivery is to hand-deliver your samples to the address below.

It is advised that you collect your samples as late in the day as possible to ensure they are received within hold time and meet the temperature requirement.
